Thank you. We want you to share our pride in what we’ve done together. Our work is not possible.

Our work is to be judicious with your support and confidence. Why? Because without it, government policies that assure no one goes hungry tomorrow.

Our work is to ensure that hungry people have access to nutritious food today and to demand local levels.

And by our partners in the field that keep us cognizant of what’s going on at the state and national levels.

Our work is informed by our own expertise and experience (we’ve been at this for 30 years!).

Our work is to identify the gaps where the need is greatest and the response is inadequate, and then to fill those gaps.

Our work is to ensure hungry people have access to nutritious food today and to demand government policies that assure no one goes hungry tomorrow.

Our work is to be judicious with your support and confidence. Why? Because without it, our work is not possible.

Thank you. We want you to share our pride in what we’ve done together.

ISRAEL
We engage our partners in strategic advocacy efforts and support innovative solutions to address the growing number of food insecure families in Israel.

ACTIVE DUTY MILITARY AND VETERANS
You helped us fight to ensure that those who make great sacrifices for our country do not struggle to put food on the table.

ADVOCACY EFFORTS
You stand with us to work with local, state and federal leaders to protect and strengthen federal nutrition programs like SNAP, WIC, and the National School Lunch Program.

NUTRITION
With your help, we work to make healthy and nutritious foods more affordable and accessible to low-income families.

HEALTHY EATING, HERE AT HOME INITIATIVE:
Our MAP-MN project resulted in matching SNAP funds at farmers markets in Minnesota.

RURAL, REMOTE AND NATIVE AMERICAN COMMUNITIES
We develop long-term solutions to alleviate hunger and increase access to nutritious, affordable food.

We support the advocacy work of organizations advancing long-term solutions to hunger in their communities through funding, training and resources.

YOUTH
You make it possible to engage the next generation of Jewish anti-hunger advocates through various programs and educational opportunities.

Partnership with University of Arkansas School of Law and the Shakopee Mdewakanton Sioux Community to launch Seeds of Native Health, an initiative that addresses food insecurity in Native-American communities.

SYNAGOGUES
We solicit our network of nearly 1,000 synagogues to mobilize their communities to help end the injustice of hunger.

Developed and led advocacy training for 76 Challah for Hunger chapters!

Why You Give: Philip Hall
For Philip Hall, food is a passion. Reading, cooking, eating – he loves it all! Considering his background in creative writing, starting a food blog (eatsporkjew.com) made sense in what Philip considers: “A celebration of the intersection of storytelling and food. For me, it’s all about the story. We eat, talk, and repeat.”

As his blog grew more popular and time-consuming, this found itself needing a justification for spending much of his free time blogging.

He told us, “I thought about it a lot, ate some food, thought some more…what better way to balance my passion and help others who are struggling to put food on the table.”

So he started selling foodie T-shirts (we’re partial to the ‘Boil then bake or end up with cake!’) and other tchotchkes on his site, and sending the proceeds to us. Why?

“I believe in MAZON and believe it’s a cause that’s making a real difference.”

You bagel believe we’re cream cheese crazy for this mensch.

Why You Give: Newman Family
Giving feels good. And donor Craig Newman finds a way to share that feeling while also making a difference in the lives of those who struggle with hunger.

Family and friends know that when special occasions or holidays arise, they can count on a beautifully written note and a donation made to MAZON in their honor.

Craig tells us, “It’s a family tradition. I use the tribute cards to not only help and the injustice of hunger but to also let my family know how important they are to me.”

“It’s part of being a Jew,” Craig explained, “giving of yourself from what you’ve been given. My mother has donated to MAZON for years and now we’re passing that legacy on to our daughter.

“Right now, we’re teaching her about sharing – sharing turns into giving.”

We’re so grateful to be part of your family – and that you’re a part of ours!
